Who We Are

WVSU Extension Service brings research-based, expert solutions to people all over West Virginia. Our program areas and their staff focus on Southern counties and serving those with limited social and economic resources.

With events and workshops, online and in person, our extension specialists and educators are empowering communities and changing lives, invested in:

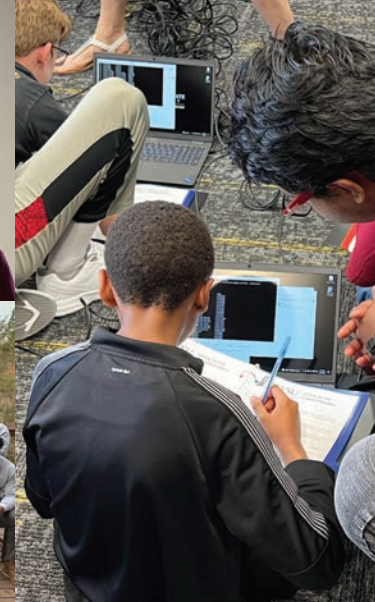

- 4-H Youth Development
- Agriculture and Natural Resources
- Vibrant Communities
- Small Business Development
- Health and Nutrition
- Families and Parenting

As part of a national network of Extension professionals, we bridge yesterday's knowledge and traditions with tomorrow's innovation and technology.

4-H Youth Development

The 4-H emblem is recognized all over the country as a symbol of pride. We've adopted a non-traditional approach to our programming efforts, focusing on:

- STEM
- Leadership
- Health and Nutrition
- Workforce Readiness
- Creative Arts
- Nature and Conservation
- Youth Gardening Education

Agriculture & Natural Resources

We provide research-based educational programs and technical assistance to farmers, small acreage producers, gardeners and horticulturalists. We offer hands-on and digital workshops and educational opportunities on:

- Agriculture Technology
- Community and Adaptive Plant Production
- Food Safety / Food Preservation
- Forestry / Urban Forestry
- New Farmer Education
- Youth in Agriculture

Community Vitality & Economic Development

Extension educators assist West Virginia's communities in becoming viable, energetic and economically sustainable. Primary focus areas include:

- Small Business Development
- Urban Renewal
- Tourism Development
- Historic Preservation
- Creative Placemaking
- Public Art

Family & Consumer Sciences

We offer practical information to individuals, families and communities on eating well, managing money, raising children, health literacy and staying active through programs that include:

- Health Literacy
- Healthy Grandfamilies
- Healthy Lifestyles Cooking Schools
- Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP)

EFNEP improves the nutritional well-being and health of youths and adults through interactive lessons on a variety of nutrition and health topics, including:

- Basic Nutrition
- Healthy Lifestyles
- Resource Management
- Food Safety
- Physical Activity
