WVSU is located in Institute, WV, a suburb of Charleston, the largest city and the capital of West Virginia. With more than 300,000 people living in the metropolitan area, it is an active, exciting and engaging community, boasting cultural and historical events, music, festivals and entertainment.

Position Description
The Department of Mathematics, Engineering, and Computer Science at West Virginia State University invites applications for a full-time Assistant Professor position in Civil Engineering starting in the Fall 2025 semester. This position is renewable annually depending on teaching performance and institutional needs. The Department offers Bachelor of Science degrees in Mathematics, Engineering, and Computer Science. The Civil Engineering program has multiple active partnerships with the local industry and is actively pursuing ABET accreditation, which is anticipated by the start of the 2025–2026 academic year.

Responsibilities for the Assistant Professor of Civil Engineering
Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate Civil Engineering courses, developing and delivering high-quality instruction, maintaining regular office hours, supporting student learning through academic advising and mentorship, and participating in departmental and university committees. Engagement in scholarly or professional activities and contributions to student recruitment and retention efforts are also encouraged. The normal teaching load is 12 credit hours per semester.

Requirements for the Assistant Professor of Civil Engineering
A Ph.D. in Civil Engineering is required. ABD candidates will also be considered (but the candidates are expected to have their Ph.D. completed before the start of the Fall 2025 semester).

Posting date: xx/xx/xxx

Candidates with expertise in environmental or transportation engineering are especially encouraged to apply. Preference will be given to those whose Bachelor's degree is also in Civil Engineering.

Salary Statement
Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To Apply:
This position will remain open until filled. However, first consideration will be given to applicants who submit a resume, cover letter, copy of academic transcripts, and the names and email addresses or phone numbers of three professional references by June 30, 2025. All requested information must be submitted for your application to be considered.
